Sir:

On February 18, 2005, a telephone interview was conducted between the undersigned, William Voller III, and U.S. Patent Examiners Marc D. Thompson and Joseph Maniwang.

Independent claim 1 was discussed generally. No specific prior art reference was identified or discussed. The interview was requested for the purpose of better understanding interpretations of various claim limitations by the Examiner, including "wireless link" and "interface client".

PATENT

SUBSTANCE OF INTERVIEW IN RESPONSE TO
INTERVIEW SUMMARY DATED MARCH 1, 2005
(PAPER NO. 20050217)

More particularly, the presently claimed invention was described by the undersigned as relating to a system in which content is retrieved and conveyed from a remote source by the "wireless link" for forwarding thereby to the "interface client" which is in proximity of the "wireless link". The Examiners explained that their interpretation of "wireless link" was sufficiently broad such that it seemed to be over-inclusive with respect to the system elements then being generally described. The Examiners suggested that the claim(s) be amended to more particularly recite the communication channel(s) and nodes and their respective operations in more detail.

Respectfully submitted,

VEDDER, PRICE, KAUFMAN & KAMMHOLZ, P.C.
